In reference to the previous notifications of the Civil Aviation Authority of Thailand issued since 3 April 2020 imposing temporary ban on all international flights entering Thailand for the prevention and control of the Coronavirus Disease (COVID - 19) Pandemic, As the present situation of COVID-19 in many foreign countries remains severe, it is necessary to impose measures to restrict the travel to the Kingdom of Thailand in accordance with the screening capability of the competent officers or the communicable disease control officers in order to efficiently control and prevent the new epidemic in the Kingdom.

- Deputy Prime Minister Somkid Jatusripitak came out to compare the COVID-19 outbreak to a big storm that battled the Thai economy and economies of other countries. He said this COVID-19 storm caused the Singaporean government to dissolve parliament to call a general election in the middle of the outbreak in the hope that a new government would be installed to soften the economic blow from the virus outbreak.
 - ❖ When presiding over a meeting of the Office of Small and Medium Enterprises Promotion committee yesterday (June 29), Somkid delegated the Office of Small and Medium Enterprises Promotion (Osmep) to find a way to assist those who want to access financial sources but cannot and those whose debts have turned sour.
 - ❖ He instructed the Osmep to come up with packages to provide a cash lifeline for small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) who have no access to financial institution lending worth 50 billion baht.

- ❖ Initially, around 500,000 SMEs are expected to receive this fresh funding once the packages are submitted to the cabinet for approval next week.
- Representatives of private sectors came out to voice concern over changes to the government's economic team as reported by the media.
 - ❖ Patchara Samalapa, chairman of Thai Chamber of Commerce's eastern economic development committee, said private sectors want clarity from the government over future plans to drive Eastern Economic Corridor (EEC) projects. He is worried about policy continuity toward EEC projects since Deputy Prime Minister Somkid Jatusripitak is the key driving force in international roadshows in Japan, China, and South Korea to relocate their production bases to Thailand amid the ongoing COVID-19 outbreak. He successfully attracted new investors to the area.
 - ❖ Patchara feared that leadership rejig at the Phalang Pracharat Party (PPRP) would interrupt policy continuity, causing investors to shun Thailand and shift to neighbouring countries instead.
 - ❖ Federation of Thai Industries (FTI) chairman Suphan Mongkolsuthee stressed that EEC is instrumental in driving economic growth and drawing foreign investments to the country. EEC projects must not be interrupted and go on as planned. Any disruption will erode the confidence of foreign investors.
 - ❖ The FTI said the government should not reshuffle the economic team just yet.
- Entertainment venues will be allowed to re-open from tomorrow (July 1). Pubs, bars and karaoke parlours will be able to operate until midnight as long as they follow safety guidelines such as ensuring 2-metre spaces between tables.
- Shares of Osotspa Plc (OSP) suffered declines during yesterday (June 29) trading sessions following the sell-off of 90,112,500 shares, accounting for 3% of Osotspa's paid-up capital by the Osathanugrah family, the company's major shareholder, to local and foreign institutional investors.

- ❖ OSP shares closed 3.18% or 1.25 baht lower to close at 38 baht, with total turnover of 4.490 billion baht. OSP shares dropped to the lowest at 37.50 baht in intraday trading.
 - ❖ Reports said major shareholders in OSP sold 12 big-lot transactions of 90,212,500 shares at the average price of 37 baht a piece, worth 3.337 billion baht.
- Reality Bites
 - ❖ The situation of some of the tour related businesses are reaching a point whereby a van operator in Samui island has announced that he is willing to give his 7 vans for free to anyone who wants to take them and continue to pay the hire/purchase monthly payments because he cannot afford to keep the 7 vans and pay the monthly instalments.
 - The giveaway would not include any hidden cost even though the original owner has paid the monthly instalments for the past 12-18 months on each of those vehicles.

Political News

- All eyes are on the Cabinet as to whether it will approve the proposed extension of the state of emergency for another month until July 31. The push is a result of the Centre for Covid-19 Situation Administration (CCSA)'s meeting chaired by Prime Minister Prayut Chan-o-cha voted to extend the emergency law for another month.

- ❖ The final decision on the Emergency Decree extension will be made at the weekly Thai Cabinet meeting scheduled for today (June 30).
- ❖ As no new local cases have been reported in over a month and the easing of lockdown measures in its final phase underway, the necessity of the state of emergency when there has been no local transmission for the past 35 days has been questioned by many groups while there have been only Thai returnees in state quarantine.
- ❖ The opposition Pheu Thai Party held a press conference yesterday (June 30) to oppose the proposed extension of the decree.
- ❖ Pheu Thai chief strategist Sudarat Keyuraphan said Pheu Thai disagreed with the planned extension of the emergency law. Based on her experience as a former public health minister, Sudarat said the enforcement of the Communicable Diseases Act alone is not enough to contain the virus, adding that the Emergency Decree creates a negative atmosphere for business and investment.
- ❖ Chief opposition whip and a Pheu Thai MP for Maha Sarakham, Suthin Khlangsaeng, feared corrupt practices in public procurement projects. He said under the emergency decree, state procurement projects are not subject to e-bidding.
- ❖ Critics said the Emergency Decree gives the Government sweeping powers to control the potential spread of Covid-19, fearing that the extension of the decree is political and based around fear of allowing opposition to the government and expressing freedoms.
- ❖ Sunai Phasuk, Human Rights Watch's Thailand-based senior researcher said there is no solid evidence to justify the extension of the state of emergency. It is now clear that emergency declaration functions as a cover for repressive action to quash dissent under the guise of protecting public health.

- “Extending the emergency powers will provide Thai authorities limitless and accountable powers to repress contrary views, arrest critics, and ban peaceful rallies for political reasons,” he said.
- The National Anti-Corruption Commission (NACC) released a list of assets and liabilities of 2 former Constitutional Court judges and 1 new one.
 - ❖ The 2 former judges were Chat Cholaworn and Boonsong Kulbuppa whose terms in office ended on April 20 this year. The new judge is Noppadol Thepniran who took office on April 1 this year.
 - ❖ According to the NACC, Chat and his spouse have assets worth 76.205 million baht and no debts. Of this amount, Chat declared 43.153 million baht in assets while his spouse has 33.051 million baht in assets.
 - ❖ Most of his assets are investments in various funds and land plots in Bangkok and adjacent provinces as well as bank savings.
 - ❖ Boonsong and his spouse have assets totalling 107.85 million baht and no debts.
 - ❖ Boonsong reported 19.471 million baht in assets and no debts. His spouse has total assets of 88.378 million baht. Most assets include investments worth 49.902 million baht in various funds and land plots in Bangkok, Phetchaburi and Ratchaburi worth 28.630 million baht in total.
 - ❖ Noppadol and his spouse declared total assets of 95.971 million baht and debts of 259,830 baht. Noppadol has declared 65.994 million baht in total assets while his spouse has reported assets of 29.977 million baht in assets. Most assets are land plots in Bangkok, Suan Phung in Ratchaburi, Doi Saket in Chiang Mai and Pathum Thani worth 52.442 million baht. Other assets are 25 amulets valued at 20.985 million baht, according to the anti-graft body.

- After Deputy Prime Minister Prawit Wongsuwan has officially been appointed as new leader of the Phalang Pracharat Party (PPRP), his every move has been followed closely by the media.
 - ❖ Gen Prawit seems to be keeping a low profile after he failed to show up at Government House yesterday (June 29) to chair a scheduled meeting of the committee for the Rattanakosin and Old Cities Conservation and Development. The meeting has been postponed to July 1. A source close to him said Gen Prawit was engaged in other businesses, dismissing reports that he has been sick.
 - ❖ The press is now keeping an eye on whether the newly appointed PPRP leader will show up at a meeting of government whips to prepare MPs for the debate on the budget bill for the 2021 fiscal year scheduled for its 1st reading in the House on July 1-3.
- Following rumours of the new Phalang Pracharat Party (PPRP) announcement to tout government spokeswoman Naruemon Pinyosinwat to lead the economic team which drew flak from critics and the public, Naruemon came out to dismiss the criticism as normal.
 - ❖ Naruemon also clarified that she will not be leading the PPRP's economic team as some may have understood and that her role was not related to the government's work.
 - ❖ To prevent further confusion, Naruemon denied that she is not the head of the PPRP's economic team but emphasized her vast academic experience in teaching and in policy research, worked as a consultant on the stock market and the banking system for over 10 years and served as a board member in the private sector.

- “These experiences allow me to work closely with the Finance Ministry. If anyone asks me, that’s roughly what I can tell them. People at the Finance Ministry know my work,” she said.

- ❖ Naruemon also dismissed rumours of strained relations between the party’s new leadership and the government’s economic team headed by Deputy Prime Minister Somkid Jatusripitak, saying the change in the PPRP leadership might have triggered such speculation.

- ❖ Some critics saw the move as backstabbing as Uttama is known to be working hand-in-hand with Somkid.

- Deputy Prime Minister Somkid Jatusripitak refused to answer media questions about Super Poll Research Centre’s survey which showed public support for him and the other 3 ministers in the old guard---namely Finance Minister Uttama Savanayana, Energy Minister Sontirat Sontijirawong and Suvit Maesincee, Minister of Higher Education, Science, Research and Innovation.
 - ❖ The PPRP leadership rejig signals the likely exit from cabinet of Uttama, former PPRP leader and current Finance Minister and 2 other ministers close to him.

- Deputy Democrat party leader Nipit Intarasombat, as a former candidate for Phatthalung’s constituency 2, has taken legal action against all 7 election commissioners with the Central Criminal Court for Corruption and Misconduct Cases.
 - ❖ Nipit accused them of violating the 2017 Election Commission Act and Section 157 of the Criminal Code for using their power to help the Bhumjaithai Party’s candidate win a seat in Phatthalung’s constituency 2 in the March 24 general election.

- ❖ Nipit said his evidence against the 7 EC members is stronger than the evidence former Democrat Party secretary-general Suthep Thaugsuban had against Pol Gen Wassana Permlarp, a former EC chairman, who was sentenced to jail for neglect of duty for failing to launch an investigation into a petition against the former Thai Rak Thai Party.
- ❖ Nipit said he will do his utmost ability to take the case against the 7 EC members to the National Anti-Corruption Commission (EC) next.
- The Democrat Party is set to hold an annual general meeting (AGM) on July 19, party spokesman Rames Ratanachaweng announced.
 - ❖ The date for the AGM was drawn up at the party's executive meeting yesterday (June 29).
 - ❖ The planned AGM will be held at 9.30 hrs of July 19 at Rama Gardens Hotel, Vibhavadi Rangsit Road.
- Korn Chatikavanij, the former Finance Minister and now the leader of Kla Party, has officially been granted the approval from the Election Commission (EC) to form a party.
 - ❖ Korn and his party's key people are set to travel to the EC to receive the documents from the EC
 - ❖ Korn had launched the party in January as part his move to possibly lure some of the Future Forward party MPs that were set to be looking for a new party after rumours were flying around that the Future Forward would be dissolved.
 - Eventually he did not manage to attract any of the Future Forward MPs to his fold.

- The Appeal Court has upheld the lower court's death sentence against Nawat Tohcharoensuk, a former Pheu Thai Party MP for Khon Kaen.
 - ❖ Nawat was found guilty by the Khon Kaen Criminal Court in late September last year of masterminding the murder of a local administrative official seven years ago, and sentenced to death. The court also ordered him to pay 300,000 baht for the funeral costs of the murdered man.
 - ❖ The judges found that Nawat ordered the murder of Suchart Kho-tethum, then assistant chief of the Khon Kaen provincial administration organisation, because the victim was having an affair with his wife.
 - ❖ The 53-year-old former MP hired 5 people including 2 former policemen to kill Suchart who was shot dead in front of his home in Khon Kaen's Muang district on May 3, 2013, as he left for work.
