Thai Enquirer Summary

Political News

- Army chief Gen Apirat Kongsompong insisted that he has no intention of extending his mandatory retirement as army chief in response to rumours that swirled around over the past weekend. Gen Apirat also said he will no longer be active in handling government affairs after that month.
 - ❖ Gen Apirat dismissed the rumour as being groundless and unconstructive. Such a rumour is aimed at stirring up conflict in the country. He said he is adamant to pass the baton to the next army chief. This will put an end to his tenure on September 30.
 - ❖ As for the Opposition's demand for the Defence Ministry to cut defence spending on arms procurement plans, Gen Apirat insisted that his ministry already made spending cuts and changes but said some cuts cannot be made to binding items or contractual obligations. He said he did not expect government opponents to understand as they refused to understand everything he said.
 - ❖ In a related issue, a source with the armed forces came out to confirm that Gen Narongpan Jitkaewthae is expected to succeed Gen Apirat Kongsompong as army chief during a military reshuffle at the end of September.

- A possible shake-up in the Prayut Chan-o-cha cabinet is expected after the 3.3-trillion-baht budget bill for the 2021 fiscal year sails through Parliament in September.
 - ❖ According to Thaan Settakij newspaper, Prime Minister and Defence Minister Gen Prayut Chan-o-cha has a tendency to delay a cabinet reshuffle until early September when the bill is tabled for the 2nd and 3rd readings.
 - ❖ The 1st reading of the bill has been passed by parliament and a 72-member House committee has been set up to scrutinise the budget bill before it returns to Parliament.
 - ❖ Amid much anticipated Cabinet reshuffle, Finance Minister Uttama Savanayana, Varathep Ratanakorn, Pornchai Trakulwaranont, Wichian Chawalit, and Santi Kiranant from the old guard in the Phalang Pracharat Party (PPRP) is appointed among 18 others by the government side to take part in the House committee vetting the budget bill.
 - This group certainly has more leverage than others to push the budget for fiscal 2021, which is 100 billion baht or 3.1% bigger than the fiscal 2020 blueprint. Uttama was chosen as committee chairman.
- Meanwhile, leading opposition figure Thanathorn Juangroongruangkit was selected yesterday (July 8) as one of the advisors to a vetting committee to scrutinise the budget bill at the 1st meeting of the scrutinising committee.
 - ❖ Thanathorn re-entered the House of Representatives to sit on the committee under the quota of the Kao Klai [Move Forward] Party. Some PPRP members and senators opposed his presence but in vain.

- ❖ Thanathorn was picked to sit on the committee along with 5 other Move Forward MPs Sirikanya Tansakul, Pichan Chaowapattanawong, Woraphob Wiriyaroj, Ekkaphob Pienpiset and Pakornwut Udompipatsakul.
- Kao Klai [Move Forward] Party seems to be in a major upheaval in Samut Prakarn province after the previous candidate who had garnered more than 31,000 votes in the March 24th 2019 elections was voted out from being the candidate for the by-elections that are set to take place soon (the exact date has not been decided yet).
 - ❖ Phalang Pracharat Party's MP who had won the Constituency number 5 was given a 'Yellow' card and therefore a by-election is set to be held
 - ❖ The result of the March 24, 2019 election was
 - Phalang Pracharat Party @ 41,745 votes
 - Pheu Thai Party @ 33,007 votes
 - Future Forward Party @ 31,430 votes

A Facebook post by the previous candidate of Future Forward saying that he is going to stop all interaction with the party from here on.

- A House meeting on national reform was called off yesterday (July 8) due to a lack of quorum of MPs.

- ❖ The lack of quorum prompted House Speaker Chuan Leekpai to adjourn the sitting after a count showed only 231 MPs in the chamber 20 minutes after he called the sitting.
- ❖ A meeting of the House of Representatives requires at least 244 of the current 487 MPs to be present in the chamber.
- ❖ The meeting centred on progress of the plans for reform which requires a report and debate in parliament every 3 months.
- ❖ Chief government whip Wirat Rattanaset of the Phalang Pracharat Party (PPRP), claimed all MPs were at the parliament they just had to attend the more than 30 House committee meetings also underway.
- ❖ A report said among 53 government MPs absent from the sitting were 27 from Phalang Pracharat, 16 from the Democrat Party, 4 from the Bhumjai Thai Party, 2 each from the Palang Thong Thin Thai and Chartthai Pattana parties, Maj Gen Songklod Thiprat, list MP of the Thai Nation Power Party, and Khathathep Techadejruangkul, list MP of the Phalang Thai Rak Thai Party.
- Deputy Prime Minister Wissanu Krea-ngam confirmed that Progressive Movement core leader Thanathorn Juangroonruangkit can assist in a campaign for upcoming local elections despite facing a ban from politics for 10 years.
 - ❖ Many questions about what Thanathorn can or cannot do in terms of his involvement in politics arose after he was appointed as an advisor to the House committee vetting the budget bill.
 - ❖ Wissanu, who oversees legal affairs for the government, said Thanathorn is eligible to exercise his right as a citizen to support local elections as long as he does not run for a seat himself.

- Prime Minister and Defence Minister Gen Prayut Chan-o-cha is reported to have sent letters to editors of the print media for meetings to hear their views on how to drive the country amid the “new normal” that will emerge in the post COVID-19 era.
 - ❖ Reports said Gen Prayut instructed his team to send letters to editors of 10 newspapers, starting from the editor of Post Publishing Plc to be the 1st, followed by those of Daily News, Thai Rath and the Nation Group today (July 9), Matichon Group and Naew Na tomorrow (July 10) and others like Manager Newspaper.
 - ❖ It is said that he has no plans to meet with other types of media.

Economic News

- Deputy Prime Minister Somkid Jatusripitak yesterday (July 8) warned of an economic storm in the 2nd half of this year.
 - ❖ After his meeting with Atsushi Taketani, president of the Japan External Trade Organisation (Jetro) to talk about the potential of Japanese manufacturers shifting base, Somkid confirmed that the Japanese representative had assured him that Japanese manufacturers will not shift base to other countries for now, citing that Japan’s satisfaction with the Thai government’s quickly progressing tax measures and assistance for businesses as the main reasons.
 - ❖ Somkid, however, warned that efforts to control the spread of coronavirus disease in the first half of 2020 will result in an economic storm in the 2nd half of the year and that the country must survive to ensure a better future.
 - ❖ He is quoted as saying,

- “In the 2nd half of the year there will be quite an economic storm. Every country is facing problems. I would like them to know that serious situations are happening in all countries but we must help each other so that we will survive the latter part of this year,”
- “The economic storm will happen to all countries, not only Thailand. We were serious in controlling Covid-19 in the first and second quarters, and the impacts of the controls will follow. If we pass through this, measures we have in place can expand and we will recover. I hope so.”
- The employment situation will not return to the way it was before the Covid-19 outbreak as the Employers’ Confederation of Thai Trade and Industry (Econ Thai) came out to express grave concern over the unemployment rate among new graduates.
 - ❖ Econ Thai vice-chairman Tanit Sorat said the agency predicted that 500,000 new university graduates will become jobless permanently as businesses affected by the COVID-19 pandemic were forced to delay hiring for new workers during the current economic slowdown. Although the government continues easing its lockdown measures in the 5th phase to allow other businesses to restart to curb escalating unemployment, business operators cannot bounce back to pre-Covid levels.
 - ❖ Unemployment for the remaining of the year is expected to surge to 3.6 million, excluding new graduates. The National Economic and Social Development Council (NESDC) expects unemployment to surge to 8.4 million workers in the 3rd quarter.
 - ❖ Econ Thai called on the government to come up with urgent measures to handle mass unemployment. Tanit said it will take at least 2-3 years for Thailand’s economy to bounce back to the previous state.

- CIMB Thai Bank touts 4 main factors that will determine the Thai economic outlook in the 2nd half of this year.

- ❖ Amonthep Chawla, executive vice-president and head of research at CIMB Thai Bank, said whether Thailand’s economy will see a gradual recovery depends on 4 main factors as he put it as, R’ E’ S’ T’.
- ❖ R stands for “Reshuffle” of the Cabinet. Amonthep said a looming cabinet reshuffle will have an impact on the domestic economy, whereas a plan to inject capital worth 400 billion baht to rev up consumer purchasing power and infrastructure development projects in the Eastern Economic Corridor (EEC) can boost confidence.
- ❖ E stands for Exchange Rate, another factor affecting the economic outlook in the second half as the Bank of Thailand has signalled it will not lower interest rates to tame the baht's strengthening value, but rather manage exchange rate movements to be in line with regional currencies.
- ❖ S stands for a 2nd wave of infections. This factor is necessary as there could be possible impact to Thailand’s travel bubble initiative and logistics.
- ❖ T stands for Trade War which will have the impacts on Thai exports’ recovery in the 2nd half.

General News

- The Cabinet yesterday (July 8), approved the Civil Partnership Bill which allows same-sex couples to register their partnership. The bill has been submitted to the House of Representatives Coordination Committee for consideration before it goes before Parliament.
 - ❖ The bill defined "civil partnership" as a union between two people of the same gender who have registered their union according to the bill, and states that both persons must be at least 17 years old to register as civil partners, and that one or both must be a Thai national.

- ❖ The Cabinet also approved another bill to amend the Civil and Commercial Code, so it says that a marriage or partnership cannot occur if the person is already the spouse or partner of another person and to include one spouse giving maintenance to or honouring another person as wife or husband or partner as a ground for divorce. The bill also proposes to amend the Civil and Commercial Code so that the right to receive alimony is extinguished if the party receiving the alimony remarries or registers a civil partnership.
- ❖ The Civil Partnership bill has previously been criticised by NGOs and LGBT rights activists for not giving LGBT couples the same rights as heterosexual couples and for focusing mostly on property, inheritance, and the right to act on behalf of one's partner in a criminal proceeding.
- ❖ The hashtag #ไม่เอาพรบคู่ชีวิต (#SayNoToCivilPartnershipBill) also trended on Twitter this week as netizens have spoken out against the two bills approved by Cabinet today, with many calling it “fake equality” and an act of discrimination against LGBT people. They also use the hashtag #สมรสเท่าเทียม (#MarriageEquality) to call on each other to support the bill to amend the Civil and Commercial Code.
