- ❖ It is expected that the ministry will maintain the current 3.99 Baht per unit rate for residential consumers using less than 300 units per month, while capping the rate at 4.20 Baht per unit for those who use more than 300 units per month.

The PM highlighted the project's potential as a regional crude oil distribution hub, while promising significant cost savings and substantial economic benefits.
  - ❖ At the core of the presentation, Srettha emphasized that the project can save over 6% in crude oil transportation costs. He stated that this substantial saving can benefit various businesses, particularly those within the New S-curves industries.
  - ❖ The PM also projected that the Landbridge project will create no fewer than 280,000 jobs and contribute to staggering annual GDP growth of 5.5% for Thailand, amounting to around US$ 670 billion.
  - ❖ The development process for the Landbridge will span from 2025 to 2040 through an international bidding process. A 50-year contract will be awarded to the winning bid to ensure streamlined project execution.
  - ❖ Furthermore, Prime Minister Srettha also discussed business plans with executives from Panasonic Holdings Corporation, inviting the company to expand its investments in battery production facilities for automobiles in Thailand.

- The personnel of the Bangkok Metropolitan Administration (BMA) will be working from home on days when PM 2.5 concentration exceeds 75  $\mu\text{g}/\text{m}^3$  in more than 15 districts, the administration said. The BMA assures that this decision will not impact their services to the public.
  - ❖ Simultaneously, 133 companies and institutions, totaling more than 50,000 employees, have expressed their intention to enable remote work. The BMA believes that this initiative will contribute to alleviating the issue of fine toxic dust by reducing the number of people commuting within the city.
  - ❖ In addition to this measure, the BMA has conducted inspections on 350 factories, 119 cement plants, and 525 construction sites in the capital to ensure compliance with air pollution regulations. Furthermore, they have scrutinized 279,204 vehicles for black smoke emissions, identifying 2,898 violators to date.
  - ❖ The Traffy Fondue platform has received 6,749 complaints related to air pollution, with 1,318 grievances directed at restaurants and street food vendors for non-compliance with regulations.
- Cold wind from China is expected to sweep down to Thailand, potentially causing a temperature drop of 5-8 degrees Celsius in the Northeast, 4-6 degrees Celsius in the North, 3-5 degrees Celsius in the Central region (including Bangkok) and the East, and 2-4 degrees Celsius in the upper southern region between December 20-25, according to the Thai Meteorological Department's announcement.
  - ❖ Heavy rain is also anticipated in the lower southern region between December 22-25, and strong tides of 2-4 meters are expected in the Gulf of Thailand during the same period.
